School Prayer May Enter Into Campaign

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional fight for specific constitutional approval of prayer in public schools has been lost for this year but may become an issue in the 1972 elections.

The battle to offset a 1962 Supreme Court decision that the 1st Amendment bars states from composing prayers for use in schools was lost in the House Monday.

It got a majority, 240 to 162, of the total votes cast but needed two-thirds for approval. Had it won in the House in its initial test in that body, it would have needed a two-thirds clearance by the Senate and ratification by 38 states before becoming a part of the Constitution.

Supporters of the amendment were unhappy but not surprised by the result. They blamed their defeat on absenteeism—29 members didn't vote—and on organized opposition from religious and legal groups.

Rep. John Buchanan, R-Ala., a clergyman, said he hopes the Supreme Court, with its complexion changed since 1962, will take another look and "restore the free exercise of religious freedom."

Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-Ohio, who led the fight for a House showdown after the Judiciary Committee bottled up the resolution, said absenteeism hurt his cause. But he predicted that public demand would revive the amendment and the result would be different the next time.

A national organization called Citizens for Public Prayer predicted the prayer issue would be raised "repeatedly and insistently" in the 1972 elections.

The resolution fell 28 votes short of the two-thirds needed. Supporting it were 102 Democrats and 138 Republicans. Against it were 136 Democrats and 26 Republicans.

A last-minute shift in strategy may have cost the resolution some support. It originally would have allowed "nondenominational" prayers in schools but was amended to clear the way for "voluntary prayer and meditation."

Both versions were assailed as vague by the resolution's opponents, who said the change indicated that sponsors were not sure of the effect of what they proposed.

Some opponents argued that the House should not try to change in one afternoon the language it took several weeks for writers of the Constitution to frame.

Supporters cited public-opinion polls to back their claim that most people want nondenominational prayers in school despite objections of religious leaders. They said many pupils believe prayer is wrong because of the court ruling.

Pay Board Sets 5.5% Ceiling on Pay Hikes

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's Pay Board has imposed on American workers a 5.5-per-cent general ceiling on yearly wage increases, bringing angry protests from organized labor.

The Pay Board rejected by a 10-5 vote Monday labor's demand for retroactive payment of negotiated pay boosts which were caught in the wage-price freeze, except in a handful of cases.

"They have abrogated our contracts," said President George Meany of the AFL-CIO. However, a federation spokesman said the AFL-CIO convention, starting in Miami Nov. 18, will decide whether the federation will cooperate.

The board in fact bowed to labor's other key demand, approval in full of deferred pay increases scheduled under union contracts already in effect. But it ruled that these raises are subject to challenge and possible rollback if found to be "unreasonably inconsistent" with the 5.5-per-cent general standard.

Asked whether the five labor members of the 15-man, labor-industry-public board would quit, Chairman George Boldt replied promptly: "I am confident they will not." He got that impression, he added, from conversations with the labor members.

But an aggrieved union could take the Pay Board into court, and it seemed equally probable that the AFL-CIO leaders would ask Congress for relief. They already have a foothold at the Capitol; the House Banking Committee last week approved Phase 2 guidelines which, among other concessions, would grant labor its demand for retroactivity.

President Paul Jennings of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers said he would formally recommend to the AFL-CIO convention that the federation and its unions "use every resource at their command to undo the injustice that has been perpetrated by the Pay Board majority at the clear instigation of the Nixon administration."

tration."

Walter W. Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors under Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, said the guideline "makes a lot of sense ... It is about the best we could have hoped for." He added:

"It does provide a basis for achieving President Nixon's objectives of getting down to about 3 per cent inflation by the end of next year."

The Pay Board's guideline policy was drafted by the five public members headed by Boldt. It was supported by the five industry members. At the decisive, late-afternoon meeting of the Pay Board, the industry five had offered a proposed guideline that was similar to the public members' in many respects; it was rejected.

Then the public members offered their version. Business supported it, and labor voted no. The five industry members later issued a statement endorsing the standard and asking "the voluntary cooperation of all Americans" in its support.

Take-Home Pay to Drop Despite Income Tax Cut

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of individual taxpayers will find their take-home pay dropping in January despite income tax cuts if a $16-billion tax-reduction bill approved by the Senate Finance Committee becomes law.

In many cases a new withholding plan adopted by the panel will take away more than the tax cuts will yield, even though everyone will get some tax reduction.

The withholding plan, recommended by the Treasury Department, is designed to eliminate underwithholding for many individuals.

The principal groups which now must pay when filing returns are persons earning $15,000 or more a year, working married couples and individuals with two or more jobs.

What the new schedule will mean is that a taxpayer now in the underwithholding category will not have to fork over a large sum when he files his return for that year.

It is estimated underwithholding now totals at least $800 million a year.

The House, in passing the tax bill, voted to put the new plan to correct this into effect in two steps—in 1972 and 1973.

But the Senate committee decided Monday, by a 7-6 vote, to change to the new system in one step—to take effect in 1972.

The Finance panel, in giving final approval to the tax bill, 12-1, Monday, handed President Nixon a substantial victory.

The measure contains practically all the benefits for individuals and business which the President has been counting on to boost the economy and produce new jobs.

Democrats lost in their fight to give additional relief to individuals but pledged to renew their efforts on the floor.

The committee's bill containing $16 billion in reductions for the 1971-73 period is slightly larger than the $15.5-billion House version.

The chief difference is in a provision added by the committee allowing many working couples and all individuals to deduct up to $4,800 a year for child care and domestic help.

Principal benefits for individuals in the Senate bill are an increase in the exemption from $650 to $675 this year and to $750 in 1972, a new $1,300 minimum standard deduction effective next year compared with the present $1,000, and an increase in the standard percentage deduction to 15 per cent with a $2,000 ceiling next year.

Mills Against School Prayer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., was the only Arkansas congressman to vote Monday against a proposal to allow voluntary prayer or meditation in public schools.

However, Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., who was in Arkansas Monday, said he had been in Washington; he would also have voted against the measure.

The proposal was defeated 240-162.

Will Assist Those Hit by Urban Renewal

The Hempstead County Agricultural Extension Service, in cooperation with the Housing Authority, City of Hope, will be assisting prospective homeowners involved in the proposed Urban Renewal Project. Assistance will be given in selecting house plans that the families will enjoy and that will meet their needs.

According to Dolores McBride, Extension Home Economist, the prospective homeowners are invited to a meeting Thursday, November 11, at the Douglas Building beginning at 7:00 p.m. Evelyn Severson, Extension Housing Specialist, Little Rock, will assist the local Extension Office staff in showing house plans and helps that the Extension Service makes available to families at no cost. Anyone interested is also invited.

Miss McBride says that the specialist has helped design numerous plans and information in a special effort to help families get the most for their family from the housing dollar. Slides will show how other families have used the information.

Found Needle in Her Scalp

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Phyllis Mae Sparks bumped her head at school three weeks ago and headaches that followed prompted her doctor to call for X-rays.

Surgery was performed and parts of a sewing needle were removed from the back of the 14-year-old girl's scalp over the weekend.

Her parents surmised that she fell on the needle as a child and never felt any ill effects until now.

Voting Fairly Heavy, Noon Check Reveals

Hope voters were flocking to the polls in fairly good numbers Tuesday to vote on bond issues for two industries that total $5.1 million.

There are only four polling places in the city yet a check at noon showed nearly 500 persons had voted. This is expected to increase during the afternoon and after working hour.

One bond issues for $1.5 million is for Tennessee Forging Steel to construct a completely new plant in the Proving Ground near Oakhaven. At capacity the plant will employ 240 persons.

A second issue is for $3.6 million for the Permaneer Corp. to expand its existing wallboard plant (Wynnewood Products) and this means at least 100 additional jobs. Permaneer has already announced plans to construct a furniture plant in the same area that employ from 450 to 500 persons. Production of this plant is projected by late 1972.

The bonds under Act 9 obligates the City in no way. The bonding company negotiates directly with the firms involved and the bonds are paid off by lease or rental agreements.

The polls close at 7:30 p.m. giving everyone plenty of time to vote. All Ward 1 boxes vote at the Fire Station; Ward 2 votes at the little courtroom at Hempstead Courthouse; Ward 3 at City Hall and Ward 4 at Hope Youth Center.

Strike Urged to Protest Board Ruling

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — A major AFL-CIO union urged today a nationwide general strike if necessary to reverse pay regulations imposed by President Nixon's Pay Board.

"We are shocked and disappointed that the first vote taken by the Nixon administration's Pay Board constituted an attack on the economic standards and the general welfare of the working people of our country," said the executive board of the 500,000-member Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union.

The union's board, conducting one of a series of AFL-CIO meetings here, said it will introduce a resolution before the main AFL-CIO convention next week to urge a national work stoppage.

The Pay Board Monday announced a general 5.5 per cent wage hike limitation and ruled out retroactivity in most cases for pay hikes frozen since Aug. 15. The five industry and five public members of the board outvoted the five labor members, including AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meanwhile, AFL-CIO leaders were split over whether to quit the Pay Board or stay on it and fight its ruling on Phase 2 wage increases and deferred pay boosts.

China UN Team Welcomed With Cheers, Chants

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Red China's official delegation to the United Nations left Peking for New York today to the cheers and chants of thousands.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported from the Chinese capital that several thousand persons shouted slogans, sang and danced as Chiao Kuan-hua and his staff of about 50 boarded a Chinese airliner for Shanghai where they will pick up a foreign commercial plane for the trip to the United States. They are due here Wednesday. An advance group arrived on Monday.

The U.N. envoys were personally sent off by Premier Chou En-lai and other members of the Politburo of the Chinese Communist party, Tanjug reported.

Chou was reported by a newspaper in Hong Kong to have gained new power in the Peking leadership.

When the Chinese U.N. envoys finally settle in a U.N.

headquarters it is likely they will be under the same travel restrictions that the Russians are but they will be better off than the Cubans, a U.S. source said.

The source said he anticipates that the Chinese will be allowed to move freely within 25 miles of Columbus Circle, roughly the midpoint of Manhattan. Except for specific areas that are off limits, however, they could travel anywhere outside that radius by giving 48 hours' notice.

Up to now, such regulations have been applied to diplomats of the Soviet Union and its Byelorussian and Ukrainian republics because U.S. diplomats in the Soviet Union are similarly restricted in their movements.

Stricter regulations apply to the U.N. delegations from Albania, Cuba and Mongolia because the United States has no diplomatic relations with their governments. Diplomats from those countries must ask permission to travel beyond the 25-mile limit, and it is seldom granted.

Very Few Objections to Court Nominees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Witnesses for and against President Nixon's Supreme Court nominees begin testifying today before the Senate Judiciary Committee whose members so far have voiced few objections to their confirmation.

Barring disclosure of new information, Lewis F. Powell Jr., a Richmond, Va., lawyer, and William H. Rehnquist, an assistant attorney general, seem headed for Senate confirmation.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said he didn't know how much of a fight would be made against them, but he told newsmen: "I think the Senate will speedily confirm both of them."

He said he plans to call a committee meeting later this week to act on the nominations, but noted that under its rules any member could delay a vote for seven days.

Twenty-nine witnesses who have requested an opportunity to testify were notified to be on hand for today's session.

Powell was questioned by the committee for about 4½ hours Monday, less than half the time devoted to Rehnquist last week.

Neither is expected to be recalled, but Eastland said he didn't know what charges outside witnesses might level against them.

Liberals and conservatives on the committee joined in plaudits for Powell, whose nomination to succeed the late Hugo L. Black marked Nixon's third attempt to place a Southern conservative on the court.

The Senate rejected the nominations of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. of Greenville, S.C., and Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Florida for a previous vacancy on the court.

As Powell finished his testimony, Eastland told him he had made "a very fine witness." And Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., said Powell had shown himself to be a man of "brilliance, compassion and integrity."

But some of the committee's liberals, in the case of Rehnquist's nomination, found themselves in what Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., called a sort of dilemma.

Hart said he believes the court under former Chief Justice Earl Warren "was good medicine for the country." While Powell had "all the marks of excellence," Hart added, Nixon had indicated he was selecting nominees who share his belief that the Warren court had moved in directions he would like to see reversed.

Under these circumstances, Hart asked Powell, "should I vote against you?"

Without answering directly, Powell said some decisions of the Warren court disturbed him, but he testified there were "many others that I thought were long overdue."

Disaster Hits in Air and at Sea

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Disaster struck at sea and in the air over Italy today.

A British air force plane carrying 46 Italian paratroopers and 6 British crewmen plunged into the sea off Italy. To the northwest, a French freighter apparently broke up and sank in the Atlantic.

And off the coast of South Africa a British tanker caught fire. Her crew was forced to abandon ship, but the captain telephoned his headquarters in London later that all were picked up safely by rescue vessels.

The British plane crashed into the Ligurian Sea. There were no reports of survivors and officials called the crash Italy's worst peacetime military air disaster.

Wreckage from the four-engine C130 Hercules transport was spotted by searching helicopters and ships off Meloria, an island a few miles from the port city of Leghorn.

The RAF craft was participating in joint British-Italian military exercises.

The French freighter in the Atlantic, the Maori, had 39 crewmen aboard. Search planes reported sighting some of the sailors battling to stay alive and French air force rescue teams dropped an emergency raft.

Officials said the 9,400-ton Madri carrying nickel from New Caledonia to France, sent out a distress call from about 580 miles west of La Rochelle. At least four ships steamed toward the scene to aid in rescue efforts.

The British tanker Heythrop, a 43,300-ton craft built four years ago in Japan, was about 100 miles southeast of Durban when she messaged that fire had broken out in one of her tanks. Capt. Alec Matthews calling from the rescue ship Showa Ventura, told his superiors at P. and O. Steam Navigation Co. that all aboard—56 crewmen and 5 wives—had been rescued after quitting the burning ship.

Critical of Placing Youth in Institution

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—John Rendleman, president of Southern Illinois University, was critical Monday of putting a homeless youngster in a institution to keep him off the streets.

Instead, Rendleman called for the establishment of a youth services bureau. Youths would be referred to the bureau by police, courts, parents and schools for counseling, recreational programs and job opportunities, he said.

Rendleman was the keynote speaker at the 1st National Symposium on Alternatives to Incarceration of Youths, which will be in session here through Wednesday.

Gov. Dale Bumpers also addressed the group. He said that it might be better not to incarcerate the youthful offender because "he is worse after incarceration."

If youthful offenders are institutionalized, Bumpers said, "we are simply putting them in an unnatural environment" away from family and friends.

Bumpers said he planned to address the Southern Governors Conference in Atlanta, Ga., today "about the range of juvenile services we will attempt to implement in Arkansas."

Foreign Aid Measure Has No Chance

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is voting today on a resolution likely to offer the administration a brief, new lease on foreign aid. But the measure doesn't stand a chance in the Senate.

The Senate begins debate Wednesday on its own sharply reduced foreign assistance program, more than $1 billion below the level the administration had set as an acceptable minimum.

It would, in the administration view, be better than nothing. And nothing is what the aid program will get until Congress settles on legislation to supplant the $2.9-billion aid bill the Senate rejected 10 days ago.

The State Department continued to urge upon Congress a continuing resolution to authorize aid spending at or near current levels after Nov. 15, when present funds expire.

But Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said there was no chance for winning congressional approval of a continuing resolution. He said he assumes the White House is aware of that situation.

Scott said Democrats in the Senate had made plain they would not permit passage of a resolution. He said his strategy, therefore, would be to seek amendments to the new foreign aid bill in hopes of adding funds that would bring it closer to administration levels.

The House resolution would authorize continued spending by the aid program, at a level of about $2.8 billion a year, the Pentagon, and other agencies which have not yet been voted their regular appropriations.

The resolution would expire with adjournment of the present session of Congress. Anticipating House approval of the resolution, Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, asked the Appropriations Committee Monday to strike any foreign aid spending provisions, on grounds Congress has not authorized the program.

He cited a provision written earlier this year into the foreign military sales bill, saying that measure, now law, was designed to prevent any foreign assistance appropriation without a prior authorization bill.

Fulbright's stand would leave action on the dual foreign aid bills drafted by the Foreign Relations Committee as the only way to revive the program.

Kidnaped Girl Freed Unharmed

PLEASANT HILL, Calif. (AP) — A 15-year-old girl abducted Sunday was rescued unharmed early today after police talked her alleged captor into surrendering.

Pleasant Hill Police Sgt. Tim Martell said the rescue of Debbie Devore of Martinez, Calif., followed three hours of negotiation with the suspect at a house in nearby Concord.

Concord and Pleasant Hill police and the FBI were involved. The girl and her abductor had been the objects of an intense search since a gunman beat a girl, wounded her parents with gunfire and kidnaped Debbie.

Martell said the identity of the man with the girl was not known.

Fair Weather Predicted for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair skies are expected in Arkansas tonight and Wednesday. A weak low pressure trough that produced light rainfall in most sections of the state Monday and Monday night was located over the extreme eastern portion of the state this morning and was expected to continue to move eastward.

A building high pressure ridge aloft over western sections of the country probably will block any new low pressure storm system for at least two or three days, meaning that Arkansas will probably enjoy fair weather for the remainder of the week.

Some warming is forecast as the sun breaks through, but dry air will permit considerable radiation cooling tonight and below freezing temperatures are expected in the north portion of the state tonight.

Highs Monday ranged from 40 at Harrison to 59 at El Dorado. Highs today should be in the 50s to low 60s with highs Wednesday in the upper 50s and 60s.

Lows tonight are forecast in the upper 20s north to near 40. Overnight lows include Fayetteville 38, Harrison 37, Jonesboro 43, Pine Bluff 46, Texarkana 44, El Dorado 48, Memphis 47, Little Rock 46 and Fort Smith 40.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. include a trace at Jonesboro, El Dorado and Memphis. 0.1 at Little Rock, .02 at Texarkana, .05 at Pine Bluff, .07 at Fort Smith, .18 at Fayetteville and .20 at Harrison.

If You Have to Tell a Secret Pick a Woman Over 80 to Hear It

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

If you have a secret but feel you simply have to blab it to somebody, tell it to a woman over 80. At that age she is beyond surprise, is well aware of the ironies of life, and glad to have something she can keep to herself.

The easiest way to get revenge on a wife is to tell her that her snoring has been getting louder lately.

Whatever happened to toposless waitresses? Their vogue seems to be over—and high time for it, too. Being served by a toposless waitress in a public place makes about as much sense as giving a small boy an ice cream cone full of wax.

This is the time of year when most of the touted running quarterbacks have their hands full of crutches instead of footballs.

No matter how angry a woman is with a man, she will never leave him as long as she still enjoys eating an artichoke with him. There are few things lonelier in life than having to eat an artichoke all by yourself.

To Deport Man Who Gave Up Citizenship

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 27-year-old North Carolina native who renounced his citizenship to avoid serving in the Army and now faces deportation was turned down unanimously Tuesday by the Supreme Court.

The ruling denied a hearing to Thomas Glenn Jolley of Greensboro who went to Canada in 1967 to escape the draft and gave up his citizenship in Toronto.

Jolley subsequently returned to the United States and took a small apartment in Atlanta with his wife, but was told by the Immigration and Naturalization Service that he was an alien and could not stay in the country.

An order to leave by the Board of Immigration Appeals was upheld last April by the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans. Jolley then appealed to the Supreme Court.

Attorneys for Jolley argued that his renunciation was involuntary since he did so to avoid Army service. They said the issue before the court was whether a man could be coerced by his own country's penal laws into involuntarily giving up his citizenship.

The government argued that Jolley had "by clear, unequivocal and convincing evidence" shown he had "knowingly and deliberately ... renounced his allegiance. By that act, he acquired alien status as effectively as if he had been born abroad and never been a citizen," the government said.

The government said the claim of duress was without substance because the draft is a valid obligation of citizenship. It also argued that Jolley's marriage to an American citizen did not entitle him to live in this country.

Chrysler Ups Price of Cricket Model

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has announced price hikes on four Colt models and the English-built Cricket, the second boost for the company's import models since the Nixon administration's new economic policy increased the import tax surcharge from 3.5 per cent to 10 per cent.

Increases announced Monday on the four Colt models range from $169 to $218 and make the lowest priced of its Japanese-built cars more expensive than all three of the American subcompact cars.

The price of the Cricket four-door sedan, the only model available in the United States, increased by $69.

Chrysler said the new prices have been approved by the Cost of Living Council in Washington.

Consumer Legislation Is Approved

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a hefty package of consumer legislation to spell out more clearly a product warranty and offer deceived customers stronger federal support.

The final vote Monday night was 76 to 2 after a series of key tests on amendments which would have stripped or watered down the sections giving new, broad powers to the Federal Trade Commission.

At one point, Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, a sponsor of the bill with Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., said tactics of the opponents verged on a filibuster.

Key sections would grant the FTC power to pass industry regulations with the force of law, subject to congressional veto; launch class-action suits to recover a deceived customer's money; seek injunctions, and intervene in local consumer disputes.

The package goes far beyond the bits-and-pieces approach of past consumer legislation and would beef up the FTC, branded as just a shade more than powerless by such critics as Ralph Nader.

Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., criticized the FTC powers as drastic and said they would create more problems than they solve. His amendment stripping all the FTC provisions was defeated 57 to 24.

The Senate defeated, 49 to 30, a bid by Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., to eliminate the class-action power. Cook called this measure "piecemeal legislation at its worst." He said the FTC would be its own judge, prosecutor and jury.

In the final vote Hruska and Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., were the only dissenters.

The warranty provisions require that if a producer chooses to guarantee his product he must spell out when and where it can be replaced or repaired. Repair time of the product extends the warranty for the time needed to fix it. If a customer sues and wins, the company must pay the lawyer's fee, and the customer must be told this in the warranty.

The warranty provisions would cover cars, appliances and other products costing more than $5.

Four Injured in Hunting Accidents

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Four persons were injured in hunting accidents Monday — the opening of the first deer hunting period in the state.

Union County officials said James Haynie, 17, of El Dorado, was shot through both thighs Monday as he was hunting on his grandfather's land west of El Dorado.

Mrs. Maurine Eiland, 46, also of El Dorado, was shot in the left foot by a .12-gauge shotgun which discharged as she was getting out of a pickup truck.

She lost two of her toes as a result of the accident.

In Lawrence County, Herschel Upton, 45, of Marium, Kan., and Walter Taffer, 38, of Ravenden were wounded when they apparently were hit by the same bullet as they hunted with a large party of men near Pocahontas Monday.

Lawrence County officials said they are continuing an investigation into the shooting.

Eight Charged in Connection With Gambling

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Pulaski County Grand Jury met privately Monday with Pros. Atty. Jim Guy Tucker.

The jury, which is apparently investigating alleged gambling activities in North Little Rock, will resume deliberations at 1 p.m. today.

The jury had met Oct. 29 and had adjourned at the request of Circuit Judge Richard B. Adkisson, while Adkisson was on vacation.

The federal grand jury has indicted six persons in connection with gambling in North Little Rock and Tucker has subsequently filed charges against two other persons in Pulaski County Circuit Court.

Tells of FFA Work

TROY BUCK

Troy Buck, Vocational-Agriculture Instructor from Hope High School, spoke to the Lions Club Monday at the Town and Country.

Program Chairman, Royce Pendergrass, presented Mr. Buck who then told the group of F.F.A. work at the school.

Everyone who has any knowledge of modern farming knows that today's farmer must have many skills. Mr. Buck said that theory and text book material are good and necessary but actual experience and practice are also of great value.

The boys work and study in crowded quarters because two hundred and forty seven students per day use facilities originally designed for fifty or sixty. In addition to agriculture the boys learn of woodworking, welding, and plumbing which will serve those who decide to attend vocational technical schools.

Mr. Buck told of F.F.A. work and projects in the Southwest District. They have sponsored an F.F.A. Foundation in the district and the Foundation is statewide but the Southwest District has raised most of the funds. The money received is used for scholarships, awards, banners, and chapter meeting expenses.

The local F.F.A. sponsors a rodeo and the contests at the 3rd District Livestock Show. One of the more interesting projects is their hay hauling project. This started out strictly hauling hay, but the boys have acquired mowers and balers as well as trucks and do their own maintenance and repair work. The work is hard, hot, and dusty, but summer vacation time work is made available. The work is piece work and some of the harder working boys have made seven hundred dollars from this work during the vacation period.

Mr. Buck emphasized that this project is not paid for by tax money or gifts. The boys operate and pay for their equipment from the work they do. Bob Daniels was the only guest Monday and was recognized by Bud Collier.

Dr. Emmet Thompson, who had arranged the program, introduced the speaker, after the club president, Dr. Sam Strong, had welcomed the guests, Claud Garner, George Frazier, James H. Pilkinton and Terry Becherer.

Pryor Could Be Candidate for U.S. Senate

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., was in the state Monday and was making noises like a candidate — and not particularly for his own position.

Pryor told an El Dorado television station that he expected to run for federal office next year, but not necessarily for reelection to the House.

While speaking before the Jonesboro Lions Club, Pryor said he was seriously considering running for the U.S. Senate next year.

During his speech before the Jonesboro Lions Club, Pryor said he was seriously considering running for the U.S. Senate next year.

Pryor said he had great reservations about Phase 2 of President Nixon's economy policy plan. He predicted that labor and business would test presidential powers in finding out how far they can go during the second phase.

On the U.N., Pryor said it was "inevitable" that the United Nations would oust Taiwan because of President Nixon's new policy toward Red China.

Southern Governors Talk Busing

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A committee of the Southern Governors Conference planned to meet behind closed doors today to weigh a surprisingly mild antibusing resolution authored by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

In low-keyed language, the resolution notes the conference's previous opposition to busing and urges the U.S. Senate to approve a bill barring federal funds for busing, even where busing has already been ordered for the sake of integration.

The controversial measure passed the House last week.

Wallace's resolution urges Senate adoption of amendments that would block federal officials from requiring state or local officials to use nonfederal money for busing purposes.

Wallace predicts that the Conference will approve the resolution before adjournment Wednesday, but said it was doubtful that it would come up for a vote by the full conference today.

A loose schedule has given the governors ample time for news conferences and informal political discussions among themselves.

Wallace, a possible presidential contender next year and an unsuccessful third-party candidate in 1968, has held one brief news conference since arriving Sunday but has been otherwise subdued.

With an obvious eye toward cultivating good relations with the other governors, Wallace has repeatedly told newsmen that he does not want to be the center of attention at the conference.

William Waller, the moderate Democrat, who defeated Charles Evers, Mississippi's first black gubernatorial candidate last week, told a Monday news conference his state is "not in any candidate's hip pocket."

Waller, a former district attorney who unsuccessfully prosecuted the accused assassin of civil rights leader Medgar Evers, said his state is "not inclined to vote an isolationist ballot" and added that Wallace's past politics might be described as isolationist.

Later, Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, another of the new and more moderate breed of Southern governors being elected, described Wallace as reflecting "the mood of yesteryear in the South."

"Governor Wallace more accurately reflects the old view of the South," said Askew.

None of the governors attending the conference have yet issued statements encouraging Wallace to run, and even Mississippi Gov. John Bell Williams, an outspoken supporter of Wallace in 1968, has not offered an endorsement.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Endless switches can be rung into the single most popular plot of Lucille Ball's comedy series.

From the 1950 "I Love Lucy" series to Monday night's "Here's Lucy," CBS's redhead has been encountering film stars and falling apart in adoration.

This week it was Ginger Rogers. Over the years, approximately the same story has been played with help from Dean Martin, John Wayne, Jack Benny, Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton and, let's face it, too many other big names. Essentially they play straight man to Miss Ball.

Sometimes the comedy works better than others, but neither Lucy nor the guest star comes off in top form. Miss Ball does a coy burlesque of the worshipful fan. The guest, forced to act like the public's idea of a star, usually has to play himself as imperious, impatient and arrogant.

After 20 years of success, television's great lady clown is an institution. Her CBS series is rarely out of the Nielsen list of top 10 shows. But many nights—and Monday was one of them—it seems that both Miss Ball and her viewers are in a rut.

NBC, moving early, will soon shuffle some programs around in an attempt to protect some established shows, perhaps at the expense of a few weak newcomers.

At the end of this month, "Ironside" will go to Thursday nights and follow "The Flip Wilson Show." This takes "Ironside" out of head-on competition with ABC's "Mod Squad" where it was only splitting the audience for police-action programs. In its new location it may help rebuild the audience for "The Dean Martin Show," a falling star so far this season.

The new plan will move three new series, none distinguished, into NBC's Tuesday night lineup—"Sarge," "The Funny Side" and "James Garner as Nichols." It is a wretched break for the series because they will be competing against ABC's strongest shows.

NBC still has a couple of trouble spots on Saturday night—Don Adams' "The Partners" and "The Good Life." The network is almost certainly waiting until CBS moves before it starts trying to shore up that lineup.

Meanwhile, the Nielsen ratings from the week ending Oct. 31 indicate that the usual front-running programs are still attracting the audiences—Flip Wilson leads the parade, followed by CBS's "All in the Family" and ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D."

THE GENERATION RAP

—by Helen and Sue Bottei

(Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottei—or both, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

HIS ROOM ONE BIG EGG BASKET?

Dear Sue and Helen:

Our son wants to egg-tray his room! He brought home big stacks of those dividers that separate eggs in their packing boxes, and says he'll spray-paint them, then tack them to walls and ceiling because he's heard they make the best acoustics for his hi-fi.

I've gone through a lot with that room, but I don't know whether I can take all those bumps and hollows—and I DO go in there occasionally to clean.

We are a house divided on this, so decided to ask Generation Rap to be the arbiter. If you two can more or less agree, maybe we can too.—EGGED ON
Dear E.O.:

I've heard that egg trays work great for stereo and they look sorta neat, too. And different—I mean how many people do you know with lumpy walls? If your son paints them right, they'd be outsize.

What he wants is neither immoral, illegal or fattening, so don't knock it.—SUE

Dear Egged:
It's your son's room, and if egg tray decor doesn't permanently damage it, then leave him his lumps.

But get it in writing that he'll do the repaint job (plus plastering nail holes) before he moves out.—HELEN

Dear "Rap":

Any good hoaxes recently? We like to read the funny ones you sometimes get. Please print 'em once in a while.—THE GROUP
Dear Group:

How about this one?—

Dear H and S:

I'm an all right guy with a problem—my parents! They act and think as though they were hundreds of years old.

My father slicks down his hair and wears an old-fashioned cape around the house. I feel sorry for him because his eyes are going bad. He says he can't see his reflection in the mirror.

The house is so depressing. I often sneak out at night, but return—always—before dawn, and all I do is a little necking. What gets me is my folks ground me for the day—they really clamp the lid down tight.

Even though their bark is worse than their bite, I get so blue, I feel as though someone is about to drive a stake through my heart. Please help me before I go batty!—ALWAYS IN THE DARK

P.S. Don't tell me not to cry over spilt blood, because I won't take this lying down.

Dear AITD:

Sorry we couldn't lay this on the Hallowe'en column, but your letter arrived after it went to press.

Anyway, don't climb the walls. At least, you're not getting it in the neck, like some of your dates!—H AND S.

Dear Rap:

My mother is constantly on a diet to keep her weight down, but it keeps going up.

I'm quite slim and intend to stay that way. Why then, does she tease me and poke fun at my "dieting" especially to relatives? When I'm serving myself at the dinner table, she watches my plate like a hawk, and exclaims, "Is THAT all you're eating?!"—UPSET DAUGHTER
Dear Upset:

Mothers have this "thing" about feeding KIDS—you know: the old "Finish your plate," "Eat your vegetables," "Don't pick over your meat" bit. They WORRY! If you're on a good balanced diet, smile and imply she should be too.—SUE

Dear Daughter:

There may be a bit of sub-conscious jealousy here: fat loves company—that's why it often runs in families. Offer her YOUR diet tips.—HELEN Overtricks mean little in rubber bridge. Twenty or 30 points don't amount to much compared to the value of game or slam.

In duplicate an overtrick may be just as valuable as the contract trick and is always worth a match-point or two.

In today's hand South found himself in a comfortable three no-trump contract. East played his queen of spades at trick one and South was in with the king. He could cash out seven clubs and two hearts for one overtrick if he so desired. Everyone was not going to arrive at three no-trump and the score for making four no-trump would surely be above average.

South wasn't interested. He wanted a top and decided to lead the jack of spades right back.

He did just that. West took his ace and South had some anxious moments while West huddled over his next play. Finally, West led a third spade. This gave South an extra trick in spades and he promptly ran off his seven clubs and dummy's two hearts for his top score.

Was it well deserved? No, but who are we to quarrel with success. West might have plunked down his king of diamonds because when both sides play the same suit one is wrong.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Colossus of Rhodes, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world, was a huge bronze statue of the Greek sun god Helios, erected on a promontory overlooking the harbor of Rhodes. The World Almanac says that the statue was approximately the size of the Statue of Liberty, and was toppled by an earthquake about 224 B.C.

Colts Beat Rams in the Last Period

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Mike Curtis will have two metal pins removed from a mending broken thumb today, and he hopes the operation will give him more football mobility.

But the bulky cast worn by Baltimore's middle linebacker may have restricted his play just enough Monday night to produce a 24-17 victory for the Colts over the Los Angeles Rams.

With his right thumb in a rigid position and unable to grasp properly, Curtis used his arm as sort of a club to jar the ball loose from Larry Smith of the Rams in the fourth quarter.

Fellow linebacker Ted Hendricks snared the ball in full stride and romped 31 yards into the end zone for a touchdown which snapped a 10-10 tie with 9:03 to play.

Scores by Baltimore's Tom Matte and Matt Maslowski of the Rams were added in the closing two minutes, but it was the fumble popped free by Curtis which turned the tide in the nationally televised game.

"Without the cast, I probably would have tried to grab him," Curtis said. "But with the cast, all I tried to do was closeline him around the chest. I happened to get in front of him and knock the ball out of his left hand."

Hendricks first saw the ball about seven feet in the air, and grabbed it about a foot off the ground. He wasn't sure whether it hit the turf or not.

"It was a freak thing, and I just happened to be there," Hendricks said. "My only thought was to make sure I recovered the ball and didn't fumble."

Just 82 seconds before Hendricks' score, a 32-yard field goal by Baltimore's Jim O'Brien had tied it 10-10, overcoming a Los Angeles lead that had existed since just before halftime.

Matte, Baltimore's 32-year-old workhorse who gained 97 yards, had given the Colts a 7-3 lead with the first of his two touchdowns with 5:26 to go in the second quarter.

But the Rams, who opened the scoring with David Ray's 20-yard field goal, struck back quickly. They drove 60 yards in seven plays to go in front 10-7 on a 12-yard TD pass from Roman Gabriel to Les Josephson.

The Baltimore game plan didn't call for Matte to carry the ball as much as he did, but he was given added responsibility after Norm Bulaich—already running a fever—re-injured his ailing left foot.

The victory pulled Baltimore to within a half-game of first place Miami in the American Conference East, while the Rams fell 1½ games off the pace from front-running San Francisco in the National Conference West.

Chaparrals Trade to Keep Strong

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — The New York Yankees used to stay on top of the baseball world by acquiring potential stars from the Kansas City Athletics.

The Dallas Chaparrals of the American Basketball Association may be serving the same purpose for the Utah Stars.

The Celtics Protect Their Lead

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Boston protected its lead in the Atlantic Division of the National Basketball Association on the above-average shooting of Dave Cowens and a late point flurry defeating Cincinnati 120-109 in the only league game Monday night.

A crowd of 6,035 watched a Cincinnati rally fall short in the fourth period in the only pro basketball game to be played in Omaha this season.

Cowens hit for 30 points, 11 above his average, as the Celtics rolled to a 97-83 third-period advantage, then needed some quick baskets to turn back a rally by the Royals.

Boston, making its record 9-2, used connections on jumpers and drives by Jo Jo White—who scored 24—to build the third quarter lead.

Nate Williams came off the bench to lead a comeback try for the Royals, who trailed throughout. Cincinnati cut the margin to 106-100 before Don Nelson and Cowens put it out of reach for Boston with two goals each.

Williams, who finished with 26 points to lead the Royals, scored three baskets late in the game.

year man from Texas A&M, brings per-game averages of 18 points and 12 rebounds into the Salt Palace. He joins two former Chaparrals—high-scoring guards Ron Boone and Glen Combs—who were obtained last year in mid-season.

Boryla gave up a "substantial amount of cash," a 1972 draft choice and the negotiating rights to George Peeples. Peeples' contract was assigned to Utah by the ABA when the Carolina Cougars signed 7-foot Jim McDaniel, Utah's top 1971 draft choice as a result of the Dallas trade.

The 6-7 Peeples didn't want to come to Utah and hasn't played this season.

Nebraska Takes Solid Hold on National Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks would rather worry about winning than piling up points.

"I don't want us to get to the point where we're dissatisfied with not winning by a big enough score," said Fairbanks, whose second-ranked Sooners lost ground to top-rated Nebraska in this week's Associated Press college football poll announced Monday.

Oklahoma, hard-pressed last Saturday in beating Missouri 20-3, wound up with six first-place votes and 968 points Monday, compared to 17 and 1,010 the week before.

Nebraska, which led by a mere 24 points last week boosted its lead with 41 first-place votes and a total of 1,060 points after smashing Iowa State 37-0.

The victory over Missouri, in which Oklahoma was held to its lowest point production of the season, prompted this remark from Fairbanks:

"I'm not at all disappointed with our team's play. We could have won it 1-0 and that would have been good enough for me. I don't want to apologize for the score."

The only change in the top eight teams in the poll from a nationwide panel of 55 sports writers and broadcasters occurred as Penn State, a 63-27 victor over Maryland, moved ahead of Auburn into fifth place. The Nittany Lions had one first-place vote and 618 points overall.

Michigan remained third, gathering six top votes and 876 points after walloping Iowa 63-7; Alabama trimmed Louisiana State 14-7 and held onto fourth place with 738 points and Auburn, with one first-place vote and 601 points, was sixth after beating Mississippi State 30-21.

Georgia, Notre Dame, Arizona State and Stanford, which clinched a second straight Pacific-8 crown and Rose Bowl berth by defeating UCLA 20-9, round out the Top Ten.

Same Carrot for Both Teams, Says Longhorns' Royal

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Coach Darrell Royal's casualty report Monday, for a change, was brief: defensive tackle Greg Ploetz had an apparent minor toe injury.

One-time starting end Stan Hicks, now a sub, was returning to practice, and all indications were that Texas' starting offensive and defensive lineups would remain the same this week. For Texas, things looked good.

Royal was asked at a news conference if, after the Arkansas Razorbacks had walloped the Longhorns 31-7, he ever thought his squad would be leading the Southwest Conference football race.

"I didn't have a whole lot of confidence in that...Our morale was sagging," Royal said. "But I never felt positively it was not going to happen. You keep an ear tuned to see what's going on in the other cities."

In Houston last Saturday Rice tied Arkansas 24-24, giving Texas, 4-1, a shot at its fourth consecutive SWC championship.

The tie, coupled with a loss to Texas A&M, dropped Arkansas to 3-1-1.

Now, Royal said, the Longhorns and their next opponent, Texas Christian University, 3-1, "have the same carrot dangling out in front of them — 'the SWC title.'"

The Longhorns, regaining most of their 12 injured starters in recent weeks, bounced back from the loss to Arkansas to defeat Rice, Southern Methodist University and Baylor.

"You can tell from their (dressing room) quotes that they are playing emotional and inspired football," Royal said of the Horned Frogs. "Getting ready to play Texas in this type of game has never been a big problem for TCU. I'm sure this will be their most inspired game."

TCU upset favored Texas teams in 1959 and 1961 to ruin possible national championships for the Longhorns.

This year, the Frogs were whipped badly by Arkansas but knocked off A&M, Baylor and Texas Tech. Billy Tobill was named head coach after Jim Pittman died of a heart attack at the Baylor game, and the squad dedicated the victory over Tech to Pittman.

"They are kind of on fire now," Royal said.

Royal said for the first time since the Sept. 18 season opener the Longhorns will work out this week without having to shift players because of injuries.

He said quarterback Eddie Phillips, who appeared to have shaken off season-long leg and toe injuries against Baylor last Saturday, was "rusty, but that was predicatable. He got better as the half progressed."

Royal pulled Phillips as a precautionary measure after two quarters, and said that Phillips later reported that his leg "didn't tighten up one bit, and the toe didn't feel anything but better."

Royal also said halfback Don Burris, who hurt his shoulder Oct. 9 against Oklahoma, should start practicing again next Monday, and there is an "outside possibility" split receiver Jim Moore and linebacker Stan Bauldin might return if Texas

Coach Reports Understanding Over Goals

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Frank Broyles said the Razorbacks met in a special session Sunday after Saturday's 24-24 game with Rice to evaluate the goal's of the team.

"I think our attitude is good, and we'll be able to meet our goals," Broyles said Monday.

The Razorbacks worked for 1½ hours Monday in Barnhill Fieldhouse due to a light drizzle.

"The rain forced us inside, but I was pleased with the workout," he said.

Jon Richardson returned to practice Monday after missing last week when he re-injured his fractured leg.

Same Carrot for Both Teams, Says Longhorns' Royal

Asked about his offense in the 24-0 victory over Baylor, Royal said, "Penalties stopped us some, but that's been happening to us."

A review of Texas' last four games, Royal said, showed that the Longhorns have been penalized 340 yards to their opponents' 54 yards.

Razorbacks Considered for Fiesta Bowl

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Officials of the Fiesta Bowl said Monday that Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles has indicated that the Razorbacks might be interested in playing in the first annual Fiesta Bowl game Dec. 27.

George Isbell, member of the Fiesta executive board, said he will be in Fayetteville, Ark., Wednesday to discuss the bowl with Broyles.

Isbell also said he will visit Tennessee athletic director Bob Woodruff Tuesday and talk to football officials at Florida State on Thursday.

Arizona State, 5-0 in the Western Athletic Conference, is almost certain to host the game.

Isbell said Tennessee, Louisiana State, Mississippi, Florida State and Arkansas are considered prime prospects for the bowl bid.

Texas Fans Cry 'Hook 'Em Armadillos'???

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP)—Texas Coach Darrell Royal of the University of Texas will get a special invitation to enter the world's champion armadillo races here early next year.

"We're going to invite him even if the university's student body decides it doesn't want to change its mascot to the armadillo," said Fred Armstrong, chairman of the second annual International Armadillo Confab and Exposition that will be held here June 9-11, 1972.

A tongue-in-cheek resolution has been passed by the University of Texas Student Senate suggesting an informal poll to see if students want to change the Texas mascot.

"I don't know how popular the armadillo is with the university students," Armstrong said, "but he is the king of animals around here. We're not saying he is better than the Longhorn, but we think he is a pretty great fellow."

Armstrong said that Royal wasn't asked to enter the race last year because confab officials were afraid that if he entered the Longhorn mascot it might hook some of the other entries, or even step on them.

"But he is welcome next year if he can round himself up an armadillo," he said, "even if it doesn't have the distinction of being a mascot."

"But unless it's a fast one, he might as well stay home," he added. "If you remember, our world's champion walked all over some pretty tough competition last summer."

Hanging Out the College Grid Wash

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash:

Only three coaches have ever won more games than Alabama's Bear Bryant, who notched No. 208 in Saturday night's 14-7 thriller over Louisiana State. They are Amos Alonzo Stagg with 314, Pop Warner with 313 and Warren Woodson with 239.

Trailing Bryant are Jess Neely, 207; Jake Gaither, 203, and Eddie Anderson and Eddie Robinson, 201. Only Bryant and Robinson are still active head coaches.

Next to join the 200 club probably will be Ohio State's Woody Hayes ... but he only has 173 and can't make it before 1974.

But for a record any coach would envy, meet Clary Anderson of Montclair, N.J., State. Since coming to Montclair State in 1969, Anderson has compiled a 23-5 mark, but even that pales by comparison to his achievements in the scholastic ranks at Blair Academy and Montclair High.

In 27 years at the scholastic level, Anderson's teams won 209 games, lost 23 and tied six. In 26 seasons as a baseball coach, his record was 464-154. He also coached hockey for nine years (148-41-9), his basketball for eight (102-42) and swimming for four (34-16-7). In two years as Montclair State's baseball coach, Anderson shows a 36-12 slate.

His all-sport coaching record is 1,015-293-22. His only losing season as a head coach came with Montclair High's baseball team in 1967. In his own athletic career at Montclair high, Cook Academy and Colgate University, Anderson never played on a losing team.

Do white shoes make a quarterback any more of a target than he would be anyway? "There are two schools of thought on that," says Don Anile of C.W. Post, whose own white-shod quarterback, Gary Wichard, has been the College Division total offense leader much of the season.

"Sometimes you want to get the other team keyed up for one kid, it's to your advantage. I think an offense could turn that kind of emotion by a defense to their advantage. When we played Maine, their whole team just stood around before the game watching Gary."

Frank Howard, Clemson's athletic director and former coach, had his consecutive game streak broken recently when he missed the Clemson-Duke game. Howard had seen the Tigers play 312 consecutive football games dating back to the final games of the 1939 campaign.

Howard was in Tennessee that weekend for a speaking engagement ... so he took in the Tennessee-Georgia Tech game. East is east and west is west and Oklahoma doesn't care for that set-up. The Sooners traditionally have occupied the west sideline at Owen Stadium, but a Big Eight rule decrees that the home team must sit on the side where the students sit ... and Oklahoma students occupy the east stands.

Coach Chuck Fairbanks says he is opposed to the rule as a matter of principle. "I think the business of managing the football games is the responsibility of the school and not the Big Eight Conference," he says.

But, he adds, "I want to emphasize that this is the opinion of Chuck Fairbanks and I'm not speaking for the university. We're not going to break any rules."

Oklahoma was the only school voting against the rule when the Big Eight put it in. And you thought Fairbanks was worried about Nebraska?

Auburn-Georgia is the big game this weekend, but a sampling of six Florida players following Saturday's 49-7 loss to Georgia rated Alabama better than either the Bulldogs or Auburn. Earlier, Florida lost to Alabama 38-0 and Auburn 40-7.

"Georgia is pretty good," said Florida fullback Mike Rich, "but Alabama is better."

More and more teams are going to the Wishbone offense, but Louisiana State's defense did a

Rice Coach Would Do It Same

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — The population of arm-chair quarterbacks has increased by the thousands in Houston in the wake of Rice's electrifying 24-2 tie with the Arkansas Razorbacks last Saturday.

Rice was only seconds away from the victory table when a stunning chain of events allowed Arkansas' Bill McClard to boot a 45-yard field goal on the last play of the game for a tie.

"I'd do it the same way again," Rice Coach Bill Peterson said. "I've never taken a safety in my career. We just couldn't plan on the penalty."

The situation arose in the final seconds of the game with Rice holding a 24-21 lead over the then 16th ranked Hogs. Rice was forced to punt and took a delay of game penalty back to its own five.

The arm-chair quarterbacks figured Peterson should have had his punter, Mark Williams, take a safety in the end zone and then punt from the 20, thereby removing the threat of an Arkansas field goal. But Peterson says he was right.

"We work every week on punting from the one-yard line," Peterson said. "We had enough confidence in Mark's punting potential that we thought he could punt the ball out of field goal range. But the penalty gave Arkansas their shot and they got it."

A second controversy arose when Williams kicked and the Razorbacks called for a fair catch. Rice's Carl Swierc bounced into the receiver and was flagged for interference.

Peterson showed the game film to the Rice Quarterback Club Monday. He reran the crucial play and said he felt an Arkansas player had pushed Swierc into the receiver and that Swierc was trying to get out of the way.

"It was purely a judgment call," Peterson said. "I'd hate to have made the call."

Peterson has resigned himself to being second guessed about the call. He didn't get off the field Saturday night before two Rice fans jumped him about not going for the safety.

"I told them 'Why didn't you ask me about those two touchdown passes I called,'" Peterson said laughing. "But I don't want to play the game again. I'm not going to second-guess myself."

job on Alabama's Wishbone Saturday night.

"The Tigers stuck the Wishbone," said Coach Charlie McClendon. "I don't want LSU to ever be intimidated by any one offense and the Tigers stuck that Wishbone tonight. I said our offense was better than Alabama's, and we showed it. We had more yardage, more first downs—but also more mistakes."

"Our kids paid the price to play this week. They worked hard and the only thing Alabama did better than us was to get more points."

"The best Notre Dame defense I've ever seen," said Pitt's Carl DePasqua after the Irish battered his Panthers 56-7. DePasqua, by the way, has been at Pitt as a player and coach since the mid-1940s.

Knee Injury Puts Nobis Out of Action

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons have announced that former All-National Football League linebacker Tommy Nobis has been placed on the reserve list because of injuries.

Nobis Monday was placed on the reserve list, a move which knocked him out of action for the remainder of the season. The Falcons said the action was taken "after team physicians said his left knee is not strong enough for him to return to the team this year."

Nobis was injured in the first half of Atlanta's Oct. 10 clash with the St. Louis Cardinals. He has been on the move list since that time.

Orioles Suffer First Loss in Japan

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — The Japan series champion Tokyo Yomiuri Giants, teaming with the Pacific League champion Hankyu Braves, erupted for 12 hits off four Baltimore hurlers today and whipped the American League champion Orioles 8-2.

It was the first loss in Japan for the Orioles, the 14th U.S. major baseball club to visit this country on a barnstorming tour. The Orioles have won eight games and tied three others.

Hisashi Yamada of the Braves, the Pacific League's top pitcher in the 1971 season, outclassed Jim Palmer in a duel between two 20-game winners. Yamada held the Orioles to seven hits, including a home run and two doubles.

Palmer gave up three homers and two singles in the first four innings, and was relieved by Pete Richert in the fifth.

The 23-year-old Yamada held the visitors to four hits and one run until the sixth when first baseman Boog Powell powered his fifth home run in Japan.

Frazier Wants to Help Convicts Learn to Box

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Joe Frazier, self made with his explosive fists, wants to help convicts set up a boxing program in Ohio Penitentiary.

The popular heavyweight champion chatted with more than 200 inmates Monday on a talk program, Avco Broadcasting Corp.'s Phil Donahue Show, live from the prison's Catholic chapel.

"That would be a good idea," Frazier responded to a convict's suggestion he help establish boxing in the 134-year-old maximum security prison.

"I'd like to come back, get up a little boxing team and work out with you guys if I can," the champion said.

Another convict wanted Muhammad Ali along. Ali lost a 15-round decision to Frazier March 9 in New York and to two are scheduled for a rematch.

"Fine, I'd like to have Ali with me. I'd be glad if he comes, too. Right on, men," said the champion, raising a clenched fist in the air.

Frazier related very well with the convicts in the opening show on a five-part series being telecast live by Avco this week into 44 cities.

His background, of course, probably helped the 28-year-old champion, who has scored 23 knockouts in 27 fights as an unbeaten professional.

"These guys asked a little different questions than you newspaper fellas. But I could handle them all," said Frazier, a dropout in the ninth grade who has worked in cotton fields in the South, a New York auto repair shop and a Philadelphia slaughterhouse.

From those varied jobs, Frazier has climbed into the big money of heavyweight boxing. His last fight with Ali grossed him $2.5 million, for example.

Frazier, who hasn't fought since the Ali match, said he would like to meet his prime challenger next year. But he doesn't expect the rematch until 1973 or 1974 because of legal and contract problems.

The champ predicted another victory. "No matter when it is, it'll be an instant replay," he said.

Frazier bristled at one convict's suggestion he was the Great White Hope.

"Clay's the original Uncle Tom. I don't feel like I'm the Great White Hope. The white people never had a champ as good as the blacks," he answered.

Frazier also says he has a reason for calling Ali by his former name, Cassius Clay.

"I'm just a little more clever than him, I call him Clay to make him mad. He says he's gonna whup you when you call him that," said Frazier.

"When he sees the tube and hears this, he'll get angry," the champion predicted.

"He'll call me tomorrow and say, 'Joe Frazier, I'm gonna get you.'"

The champ said he was up to 225 pounds. "I should be about 215. I've put on weight traveling with my musical group (The Knockouts). There's not enough gyms to work out."

Frazier, a native of Beaufort, S.C., now living in Philadelphia, said he had no immediate plans other than appearing with The Knockouts and "doing a little farming down on my new plantation."

He recently brought a plantation in South Carolina for his mother and will next appear with his musical group Wednesday at U.S. Marine Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Indians Prepare Tornado Crisis Simulated in Hempstead County

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State University's Indians worked on their running, punting and kicking in a workout Monday which last a little more than an hour.

Coach Bill Davidson said the Indians were a little bruised from last week's 10-10 tie with Southwestern Louisiana, but there were not additional major injuries to key personnel.

Canadians Win Nations Cup at Horse Show

NEW YORK (AP) — The Canadian equestrian team was basking in the glory of its first Nations Cup victory of the year and first at the National Horse Show since 1959 today.

But the Canadians still had another major problem in the final session of the 88th edition of the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden.

The U.S. equestrian team led for the team title, 76-72, with Argentina, the third team in the competition, trailing with 36 points.

Canada beat out the United States by the slim margin of five faults, 12-7.

All the faults of both teams were incurred during the afternoon session of the two-round event and that made the evening class tense, indeed.

Both teams were faultless in the second round to the delight of the crowd of 8,000.

The Canadian team was made up of Eleanor MacCowan on Hombre, Torchy Millar on Le Dauphin, Barbara Simpson on Catbird and Jim Day on Sundancer.

Jurgensen Back in Action as Back-Up QB
WASHINGTON (AP) — Quarterback Sonny Jurgensen is back on the job with the Washington Redskins, but his job is on the bench as back-up signal-caller to Billy Kilmer.

"Sonny will be brought along slowly," Skins' Coach George Allen said Monday, squashing all speculation that Jurgensen will regain his starting job with the National Football League club.

"He is not ready to play football yet," Allen said.

"I'm not going to let anybody dictate to me what we're going to do about our quarterback," the coach said. "Both quarterbacks want to win, and we're a team."

"We have never had a quarterback problem. In Los Angeles when I took over as coach I said, 'Roman Gabriel is the quarterback.' Some people said, 'but Bill Munson has been our No. 1 quarterback.'"

"I said, 'Well, now he is our back-up quarterback.' Munson became unhappy in that role and eventually we had to trade him."

"Kilmer's our quarterback," Allen said. "He's brought us to where we are now. He's done a great job."

When Allen took over as head coach of the Redskins, he immediately obtained Kilmer in a trade with the New Orleans Saints. But, Jurgensen, who holds nearly all of the Skins' passing records, was No. 1.

Then, nine weeks ago, a Jurgensen pass was intercepted and he tried to make the tackle.

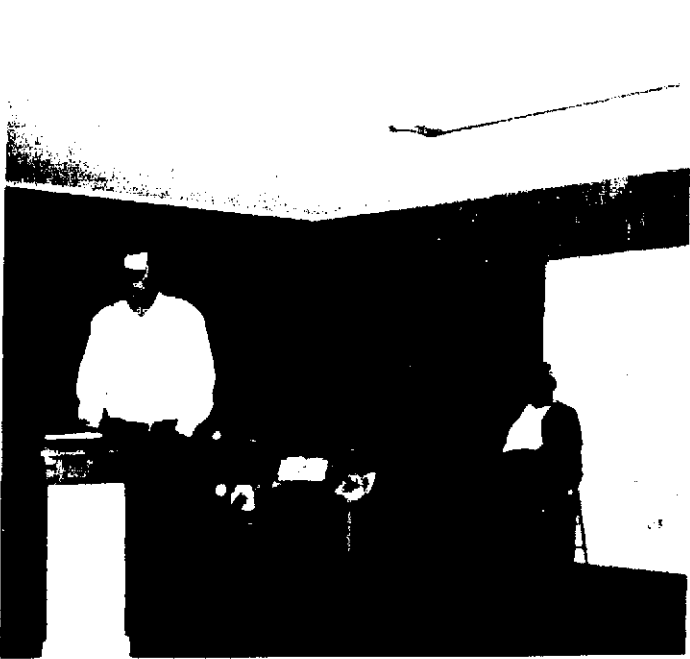

From Left to Right, JoAnn Embry and Mrs. Jim Cobb are shown plotting the location of Hempstead County Rescue Unit at the scene of the tornado.

The WOW Meeting Hall in Hope was a beehive of activity on Tuesday evening, as it was the simulated Emergency Operation Center for local government officials and Civil Defense organization of Hempstead County.

This meeting was scheduled for these officials and organizations to exercise their plans, communications, and resources for coping with a tornado crisis.

The simulated problem was the touch down of a tornado six (6) miles North West of Hope. James Luck, Program Chairman of the Hempstead County Rescue Unit, had developed a series of fifteen (15) problems concerning the destruction to industrial and domestic facilities, injuries and casualties, and traffic and looting incidents, which occur as a result of a tornado.

This was unique in that Mrs. Guy Downing, Hempstead County Civil Defense Director, had organized the Emergency Operations Center like it had been taught by the Civil Defense University Education Program, in a workshop conducted here in March of this year. This is the first time any local government official has taken the initiative to practice what they have been taught in Arkansas. They are to be highly commended for this action and foresight.

State and Federal Civil Defense officials were in attendance as observers; Ralph H. Moore, State Director; Charles B. Greene, Training and Education Supervisor; Lee M. Epperson, Information Officer; Pete Flocks, Area Coordinator; John Stalling, Regional Field Officer for Arkansas; Joe Bert Carr, Regional Field Specialist. Mr. Moore expressed his gratitude to the participants in the exercise and stated that they exemplify the true meaning of Civil Defense, which is "local government, in action during periods of emergency crises."

NHL May Add Atlanta and Long Island

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League was prepared today to accept at least two new members after spending most of Monday evening listening to a report on expansion, prepared by a Board of Governors study committee.

Before the board were applications from several cities with the most likely to be approved coming from Atlanta and Long Island. But expansion to those two areas is not a simple matter, and it was the complex side issues that occupied the governors Monday.

First, there is the matter of just how many votes it would take to approve immediate expansion. Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL and chairman of the expansion study committee, had indicated last week that any expansion before 1974 would require a unanimous vote by the 14-man Board of Governors.

But there were reports Monday that the board had agreed a 12-vote majority would now be enough for approval. "That is a matter of debate," said Campbell.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Loud Music No Exception

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would appreciate advice and counsel on the subject of hi-fi effects on hearing.

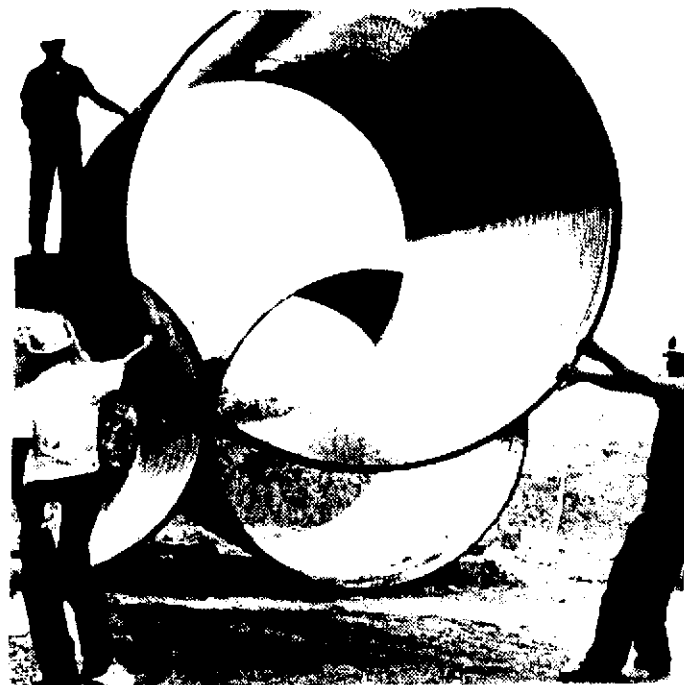

In particular, we've been bugging our kids to cut the volume on their record and radio playing. Am sure that an improper relationship of decibels to volume can be most harmful to the human ear. Now, our boy wants to buy a pair of the muff-type earphones for his personal listening. Is there no harm, or less harm, in using earphones instead of loudspeakers?

Dear Reader — Earphones would certainly cause less harm to everyone else except the person using them. You are absolutely right about possible harm from loud music. Noise deafness is common to people who must work around loud noises, such as around aircraft. Most places where this is an occupational hazard have the level of noise checked to be certain it is within the range of safety for hearing. In addition, people working in such environments often wear ear muffs or "ear defenders."

People who have been exposed to too much noise will show loss of hearing when tested with an audiogram. Interestingly enough, the noise deafness makes it impossible for a person to hear the finer aspects of music such as the high frequency tones. I have always been amused with the hi-fi bug who spends large sums of money for hi-fi equipment and has enough ear damage not to be able to hear any more tones than are normally transmitted by relatively cheap equipment. Anyone planning to spend a lot of money for hi-fi would be well to have a hearing test first to see if they can even hear the highly touted additional sounds.

There is evidence that a number of people listening to loud music, usually rock 'n' roll, have developed noise deafness. The damage is irreversible. It is no different than damage from loud noises like that produced by gunfire.

The factor that determines whether the hearing will be EITHER FEATHER-LIGHT pipe or muscles of iron would appear to be the case here. Actually, it's a trick done not with mirrors but a crane, out of sight, which suspends a three-ton section of steel diversion pipe used in a U.S. Corps of Engineers flood control project on the Rouge River at Detroit. In all, more than a half-mile of Armo Hel-Cor eight-foot pipe is used and then reused as work progresses.

Forecasts for '72 Economy Look Good

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As certainly as birds fly south in November, economists send forth a flutter of next-year forecasts. And while in the past this deluge of mail descending on editors' desks has been compared to more litter falling on the town dump, the messages they bring this year are more appropriate to Christmas cards. They are that bright.

If they are to be believed—and often the broad dimensions outlined in full-year forecasts are more descriptive of events than are more precise, short-term attempts—there is good news for almost all categories of economic man.

To name them: consumers, home-buyers, workers, retailers, corporations, borrowers, lenders. And by inference, one must also include the political fortunes of President Richard Nixon. All this, if the forecasts come true.

The consensus seems to be a Gross National Product, or total of all goods and services produced, of close to $1.15 trillion, or about $100 billion more than in 1971. Real growth of 6 per cent is foreseen; it was only 3 this year.

Such growth must be tempered vigorously. And the manner in which forecasters are delivering their message also is more vigorous when compared with the timorous hedging of certain other years.

While conceding there is much uncertainty because of the new and untested economic plan, the economist-forecasters aren't showing it in their projections. Their opinions are noteworthy for their simple, flat and straightforward sentences.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Dozing Driver

Too little sleep, like too much liquor, can turn even the mildest motorist into a deadly menace. If a driver dozes off and has an accident, is he legally liable for the consequences?

The law starts with the proposition that no one should be blamed for what he does while unconscious. Blame rests on free will misused and the sleeping person is not using free will at all.

But one court after another has nonetheless imposed liability on the dozing driver. They find him negligent not for what he does while asleep but for disregarding, while still awake, the telltale signs that sleep was coming.

"It is true," said one court, "that (the driver) can not ordinarily fix the precise moment when he lapses into unconsciousness. But it is not true that ordinarily sleep comes unheralded. It lies within his own control to keep awake or cease driving."

Background factors, contributing to the danger, are also taken into account. One driver had been at the wheel continuously for 18 hours; another was exhausted from overwork; a third

Rains Delay Enemy Push of Materials

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Torrential rains, by some accounts the heaviest in 100 years, appear to have delayed North Vietnam's annual dry season push of war materials southward.

Informed sources said today that the main supply network, the Ho Chi Minh trail running through eastern Laos, is now beginning to dry up and truck traffic has increased slightly. "But there is no big push yet," said one source. "Typhoon Hester seems to have delayed any significant enemy activity. It was anticipated the push would begin the last half of October and things would be well under way by now."

Typhoon Hester caused catastrophic damage in the northern quarter of South Vietnam two weeks ago and dissipated over eastern Laos. Rains spawned by the storm caused landslides and interrupted road construction along the 300-mile trail network.

B52 heavy bombers and smaller tactical fighter-bombers kept up attacks along the supply route in efforts to further stall construction and knock out what little truck traffic there is.

The B52s also launched strikes in the northern quarter of South Vietnam, hitting North Vietnamese storage areas and bunker complexes seven miles south of the northernmost provincial capital of Quang Tri.

The U.S. Command disclosed the loss of two helicopters in South Vietnam to enemy ground fire. An AH1 Cobra gunship was shot down Monday north of the A Shau valley, a transshipment point off the Ho Chi Minh trail. There were no casualties reported. A delayed report said another Cobra was shot down last Saturday deep in the Mekong Delta, killing one crewman and wounding another.

The losses raised to 8,012 the number of U.S. aircraft reported lost in the Indochina war since Jan. 1, 1961.

Meanwhile, Hanoi charged that U.S. air strikes inside North Vietnam Sunday and Monday hit a number of populated areas causing civilian casualties and property damage. The Hanoi broadcast also claimed that two U.S. fighter-bombers were shot down.

The U.S. Command's communique in Saigon reported three separate incidents in which a total of 12 fighter-bombers attacked anti-aircraft batteries defending three airfields inside North Vietnam after the guns fired on American reconnaissance planes. The communique said the results of the strikes were not known and there was no damage to U.S. aircraft.

Asked about the charge that the air strikes caused civilian casualties, a spokesman for the command, Maj. Robert O'Brien, said, "We don't address ourselves to Radio Hanoi broadcasts."

Presbyterians Have a Special Fund for Girls to Have Abortions

By DALA MCKINSEY
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Presbyterian Church is administering their own version of "By now pay later," only their service is for abortions.

Several Arkansas girls have borrowed money from a special fund designated for abortions only and have flown either to New York or California to have the operation performed.

When airplane schedules will allow, the whole process can take a day.

Before the girl leaves for New York all the arrangements for the abortion are made. She is checked into a hotel across from a hospital, has the abortion and then is checked by a nurse back at the hotel to see if there are any complications.

Application for the loan, which covers airline fare, hospital and hotel bills plus meals, is made at the Arkansas-Oklahoma regional office in Little Rock.

The normal cost is somewhere between $400 and $500.

The girls receive the funds prior to taking the trip and the Little Rock office is reimbursed from national funds at the church's headquarters in Atlanta.

James Rawlings, director of the Presbyterian Family and Child Services office, said the fund was set up by a Presbyterian man, who wishes to remain anonymous.

So far the girls have paid back every loan, officials said.

Mrs. Sally Jackson, who is the wife of a Presbyterian minister and is a caseworker at the center, said that the girls are not asked "to convert." She said that one of the things about the service that amazes the girls the most.

The office, which is located in a large, brick converted home, is conspicuously devoid of any religious wall hangings, books and literature.

Mrs. Jackson said the articles are not displayed purposely—to make the unwed mother more at ease.

Mrs. Jackson said that the abortion service is unique, not only because of its sensational nature, but because she says it is the only service in Arkansas that aids the unwed mother who does not meet state welfare standards.

Unwed mothers qualifying for the state program must be willing to give up their baby for adoption. However, state officials say the girl who changes her mind is not penalized.

Rawlings explained that the man who set up the loan program had attended a national Presbyterian conference totally opposed to abortions. However, Rawlings said as the man sat there and listened to the debate over the subject he changed his mind.

In a position paper adopted by the church in 1970, the Presbyterian Church took recognition that there was a change in attitude in today's society about abortions.

"The changing role of women has produced a desire on their part for greater self-determination in accepting their role as mothers and/or wage earners," the paper said.

While neither condoning or coming out against abortions, the paper said "the decision to terminate a pregnancy should never be made lightly or in haste."

"There is no consensus in the Christian community about when human life begins. Because of this uncertainty, and because the fetus, if left to termination of its normal gestation period would become a person capable of life on its own resources, the unborn fetus must be respected for its own worth regardless of the period of question," the paper said.

"However, the needs of the mother may at times take precedence over the needs of an embryonic and unborn child, and the rights of the fetus should be considered in each individual case."

The abortion service is just one of many services the center provides. They also advise unwed mothers who intend to keep their child, whether or not the mother wants to get married to the father or remain single.

Arms Ban to Pakistan No Aid to Critic

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The cancellation of U.S. arms shipments to Pakistan has taken a weapon from the hands of one of the Nixon administration's most vocal critics while making important diplomatic gains.

Administration officials acknowledged domestic political benefits will be one of the major results of Monday's arms-cutoff announcement.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the Massachusetts Democrat who had led the constant criticism of the arms aid, said the cutoff "is a welcome first step in what I hope will be a redirecting of our policy in South Asia."

But other sources on Capitol Hill and in the administration said the arms cancellation removed one of Kennedy's most potent issues while relieving congressional pressure on both the White House and the military regime in Pakistan.

Both sides apparently had this in mind in agreeing to the cancellation. According to State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray, "neither we nor the government of Pakistan were unaware of the controversy" this subject has generated in the United States.

Another and perhaps even more important result is an improvement in U.S.-Indian relations. The Indians never were really concerned with the amount of the shipment, mostly spare parts and small pieces of equipment worth less than $5 million since last March.

The real problem in the eyes of the New Delhi government was what it saw as the implied approval of Pakistani actions, particularly in the rebellious East Bengal province, that the shipments represented. So, the end of American military sales to the Pakistani military regime at a time when the two subcontinent nations appear on the verge of a general war is being read in New Delhi as a symbolic victory.

The State Department explained the arms cutoff as a strictly U.S.-Pakistani arrangement without any connection to India.

Nevertheless, the development comes at a notable time. Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi has just completed an official visit to Washington in search of support for her government's position in the dispute with Pakistan. It also follows a Soviet-Indian friendship treaty said to mark a new low in American relations with New Delhi.

During this time, he was admitted to a hospital in Chicago for surgery, from which he completely recovered. In Chicago, he was with his daughter. Before returning home, he visited a brother and sister in Milwaukee, a son and daughter in Gary, Indiana.

Changes in Pollution Bill Sought

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is seeking extensive changes in the strong water pollution control bill approved last week, 86 to 0, by the Senate.

Environmental Protection Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus said the administration wants new hearings on the bill when it is considered by the House.

Congressional sources displayed a detailed list of proposed changes which they said the White House was circulating to congressmen and to state governments.

Ruckelshaus told newsmen he had not seen that list, but he showed them a critique which he said was prepared by the President's Council on Environmental Quality. Its discussion of the bill backed up the point-by-point alterations list attributed to the White House.

The documents indicated the administration wants to delete or reduce many key provisions of the Senate bill, including abandoning its 1985 goal of a complete ban on waste discharges into waterways.

The 1985 deadline, Ruckelshaus said, simply could not be achieved. "That ain't gonna happen, and I don't think we ought to promise things we can't produce," he said.

The administration also proposed a limit on federal participation and the deletion of a provision allowing citizen suits against the government to enforce the bill.

Ruckelshaus said it would be "a grave mistake" to view the administration's misgivings as "an effort to weaken the bill in any way or to stop for anything less than clean water."

Contents That Vietnamization on Schedule

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The Nixon Administration's contention that the Vietnamization program is on schedule or ahead of it in all respects ignores some major problems as the withdrawal of U.S. forces reaches a critical stage.

"If the South Vietnamese are going to do the job, they must make the best use of available resources, and they are not doing that," said one senior U.S. officer.

Vast land regions, including the better part of three provinces north and east of Saigon, are not covered militarily. The militiamen of the Regional and Popular Forces are assigned the security of the countryside to free the South Vietnamese army for blocking operations into Cambodia. But one senior American officer in the 3rd Military Region, which includes Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces, gave this view:

"With three glaring exceptions, the Regional and Popular Forces can handle the day-to-day enemy activities fairly well. The three exceptions are the three main force enemy regiments in Military Region 3."

"The disposed Regional Forces are not capable of combating them. In the past we've had to use regular forces, the Americans, the Thais, the Aussies."

"The allies will have withdrawn some 80,000 troops in Military Region 3 after the Australians and Thais leave. There has been no increase in the authorized strength of the South Vietnamese regular army. There has been some increase in the Regional and Popular Forces but not substantial."
